Mission

Kindness is a superpower we all have: It has the potential to impact billions and at the same time help us live a fuller life. Our mission is to inspire and remind all of us how simple and rewarding kindness truly is.

“Making the world a better place, one good deed at a time”

About The Concept

This is a social media platform on which people share the good deeds they have done and they get rewarded for them. Our purpose is to educate people to do good and help each other.

All acts of kindness will be accompanied by a story that will act as proof, be it a photo, video, audio file or a link. Posts can receive “Wings” (which is the equivalent of the “Like” button), they can be commented on and shared on other platforms.

All posts containing good deeds are instantly rewarded with ANGELs, our tokens. The more ‘wings’ a post receives, the more ANGELs the helper receives. In addition, there will be challenges and events, both online and offline, in which members can participate. The only prerequisite you will ever need on Give an Angel is kindness.

The Angel Token

The ANGEL stands as the main incentive for getting people to do more kind acts toward each other. There will be two ways to obtain ANGELs, either by doing good and posting on the platform or by acquiring them.

In 10 years there will be 8,618,349,489 ANGELs, which represents the global population forecasted for 2031, since everyone has a guardian ANGEL.

PROBLEM

How many times did you think about helping someone and ended up passing because of a lack of time, money or other resources?

How many times did something make you emotional but figured someone else, more powerful, richer or with more free time, will help the cause?

How many times did you witness someone who needs help but ended up not helping because too many differences between you made it difficult to fully empathise?

SOLUTION

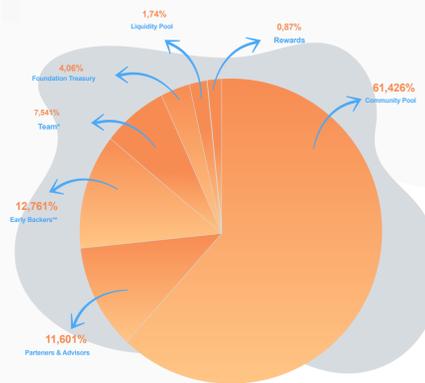

Our platform offers people the benefits needed to overcome the cost of helping others. By getting ANGELs, badges and community perks, the cost-benefit analysis may take a positive turn.

Because people tend to imitate the behaviour of others and, naturally, also their reluctance, we want to build a community of people who are willing to help. This way others will be motivated to follow their lead, get inspired and do the same.

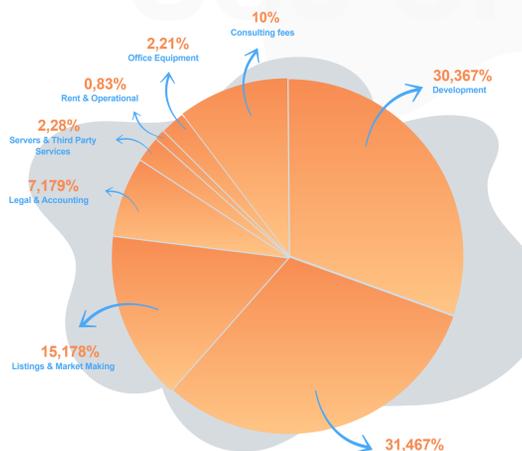

By creating a community, people will be more eager to help each other due to the in-group membership effect. Being part of the same community and working for the same purpose will act as similarities among people.
